

My name is Diego Barella, I am 40 years old, married, Christian, father of two children.

I have experience working in agriculture for over ten years, I currently live in the state of Mato Grosso, we work with soybeans, corn, sunflowers.

I have no criminal record, can I take a toxicology test.

My English is basic, but I'm taking classes, I learn quickly

My experience on farms includes purchasing quotations for inputs and parts, preventive maintenance of equipment and machines used in operations, and preparation of new agricultural areas and pastures. I have worked with tractors since I was a child, performing all functions in soybean and corn crops, such as:

Fertilizer application, planting operations, adjustments to seed drills, harvesting operations, plows, and harrows. All operations carried out with GPS and autopilot.

I should be hired because I am a proactive person, with a strategic vision and a focus on results. I have a unique ability to identify opportunities for improvement and transform challenges into practical and innovative solutions. I am resilient, organized and know how to prioritize tasks to ensure efficiency and quality. Furthermore, I am committed to the growth of the team and the company, always looking for ways to contribute with ideas and actions that generate a positive impact. If I were a medicine, I would solve problems of lack of productivity, low motivation and integration difficulties, bringing energy, innovation and alignment to achieve goals consistently.
